DOWIE'S PARENTAGE.

Mother a Noble Lady and Father a British Officer.

They Contracted a "Scotch Marriage," But Later She Married John Murray Dowie That Her Offspring Might Have a Patronymic.

New York, Oct. 27.—In a broken voice with tears streaming down his face and his body shaking with emotion, John Alexander Dowie stood on the platform in Madison Square garden Monday night before an audience of 10,000 persons and announced that in truth, he was not the son of John Murray Dowie, of Essex, la., from whom he takes his patronymic, but that his father was a British army officer of high family by a "Scotch marriage." He heaped vilification and denunciation upon John Murray Dowie, whom he declared had made his mother believe her marriage to Dowie's father was shameful, and the army officer having been taken away by his relatives his mother in the first flush of her shame had sought to give her son a name by marrying John Murray Dowie.

He led up to the publication Monday morning of extracts from letters passing between himself and John Murray Dowie, indicating Dowie's renunciation of the latter as a parent, and which were responsible for the general overture's partial exposition of the great secret of his life.

Shouting at one moment in a fit of violent rage at the newspapers, Mr. Dowie would the next moment speak in the most gentle voice of his mother and wife. The great audience was moved by his evident emotion. Women wept and at times bursts of applause greeted his declarations.

"The best proof that John Murray Dowie was not my father is," he shouted, "that he has given up my letters to him, rebuking him for the most terrible sin a man could ever commit, in my judgment. Were it all against myself I would not care; but there is one, the dearest, sweetest, purest woman that ever was, who is now ten years, thank God, in Heaven—my mother."

"Now that this has come before the world," he said, "I had better tell the story. I had determined long ago that if ever it must come out, wherever I was, no matter what the assemblage, I should tell my story."

"My mother was a noble woman. She was greatly beloved by the privates and officers of one of the foremost regiments of the British army. Our home was near the post of the regiment. My people had been connected with the army for centuries. I supposed I was the son of John Murray Dowie, who now lives in Essex, la., and I never ceased to wonder he could have been my father. He was mean and hypocritical and as the years rolled on he grew worse. I had no sympathy for him. For many years I did not see John Murray Dowie. Then evil times came upon him and at his own expense I brought him from Australia and gave him a home in my own house. One day he came in. He dared not call upon God to save him and as I was passing his door he called me in. He asked my help and I said: 'You will never recover, nor will God ever hear you, because your religion has been a sham. Something is on your conscience and you will have to confess.' He said in a faltering voice: 'John, that's true, but I am so sick I can't tell you now, but I will if you wait until I am better. Ask God to help me. I pray, and John Murray Dowie was saved. One day later he gave me some papers which explained everything."

"I knew that I had been robbed of my birthright by that villain sitting in front of me; I knew that I was not his son; I knew that he had married my mother in March and that I had been born in May. And with the knowledge that had come so strangely to me I saw also that my good, noble mother had been tricked into a Scotch marriage with a British army officer of high standing whose relatives had hurried him out of the way and that my dear mother, to hide her shame, had married that vile scoundrel who sat there before me, and had done what, had I known of it 20 years before, would have given me my right place in the world. For there is no doubt that her marriage to the scoundrel John Murray Dowie was invalid. And the Scotch marriage could never have been invalidated and I was the rightful son of my father."

The last words, pronounced with solemnity over the great still garden, fell on the audience like an irrevocable dictum.

"My father was a man of high standing. He led one of the great charges in the Crimean war and died like a soldier at the head of his troops."

"I want to say that I never wanted this story to come out, but it is known that I am not the son of the miserable scoundrel who, in order to strike at me, sold the letters in which I reproached him, to the vile press of New York."

REVOLT IN SANTO DOMINGO.

Revolutionists Attack and Capture the Town of Santiago.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, Oct. 27.—The town of Santiago, in the Dominican republic, was surrounded Monday morning by insurgent troops under the command of Gen. Epifanio Rodriguez. After severe fighting, which lasted for several hours and during which a number of men were wounded, the revolutionists triumphed and Santiago fell into their hands.

The revolution, which has broken out in the northern part of the republic of Santo Domingo and which has already resulted in the establishment of a provisional government at Puerto Plata under the presidency of Gen. Morales, was caused, according to advices received here, by the numerous custom house frauds and the pretensions of the ministers of war and of finance.

The signal for the outbreak of the revolt was given at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon by three cannon shots. That same evening all the partisans of President W. y. Gil at Porto Plata were arrested. The inhabitants at Monte Cristo, La Ligne and Loca united and attacked Santiago. Telegraphic communication between Santiago and La Vega has been severed.

The revolutionary outbreak is extending, and the general opinion is that the government of President W. y. Gil is lost.

Vice President Gueschamps abandoned the government and has arrived here in a small sailboat from Monte Cristo.

UPRISING IN COLOMBIA.

Seventy Men, Supposed to Be From Nicaragua, Landed Near Colon.

Washington, Oct. 27.—The state department received a cablegram dated Panama, Monday, saying that 70 men, supposed to be from Nicaragua, landed on the Atlantic coast a few miles from Colon Sunday. Panama, Oct. 27.—The authorities here have received a telegram saying that the government forces which are advancing upon the revolutionary band of 70 men which landed at Catalina, on the Atlantic side of the isthmus about two weeks ago, had located the enemy and expected to engage them shortly.

A NOVEL SENTENCE.

Exile For Life In Germany Imposed on a Shoplifter.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Exile for life in Germany was the sentence negatively imposed on Mrs. Mary Stein, convicted of shoplifting by Judge Clifford Monday. The woman's husband pleaded that the sentence of one year in the house of correction, which was pronounced by the court would result in the death of the prisoner. Mr. Stein exhibited a steamer ticket for Germany and declared that if the court would permit, Mrs. Stein would depart immediately for Germany, and never return. Judge Clifford agreed, and made Saturday next the time limit for sailing.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Baron Stenberg, the German ambassador, has been called to his home in Saxony on personal business. The ambassador will return to Washington late in November or early in December. MEXICAN PRESIDENT.

Elias Toscano Fired Five Shots at Him.

The Man Has a Bad Criminal Record and Was Recently Released From Prison Where He Served a Term For Homicide.

Guajuato, Mex., Oct. 28.—Great excitement was caused here Tuesday by what looked like an attempt on the life of President Diaz, who was a guest of the state government during the festivities here. The president, his staff and guests were passing by the Oantador garden in a street car when a man of the lower class by the name of Elias Toscano approached the car shouting and fired five shots from a revolver at the car, fortunately doing no harm.

Pablo Escandon, of the president's staff, rushed out of the car and caught the man, wrenching the revolver from his grasp. The police took Toscano to prison. He is a man with a bad criminal record and was but recently released from prison at Granditas, where he had served a term for homicide. The matter will be investigated. One theory is that Toscano was drunk and another that he deliberately planned to shoot the chief magistrate. The president remained perfectly cool and was acclaimed by the crowd of citizens showing their joy at his escape.

Toscano's evil record makes the theory of a deliberate attempt at assassination appear probable. The president has received the felicitations of the citizens and diplomatic corps here.

An attempt was made on the life of President Diaz December 16, 1897. He attended on that day the public celebrations in the City of Mexico of the anniversary of Mexican independence. During the festivities a man rushed towards him and endeavoring all efforts made to check his progress reached the president's side and attempted to kill him. Great excitement prevailed but it was soon seen that the efforts of the murderer had been futile. President Diaz was not hurt. The assassin was at once arrested and thrown into prison. This attempted murder created much excitement and subsequently the assassin was dragged from prison by a mob and lynched.

Guajuato is about 100 miles north-west of Mexico City. It is singularly situated in deep, narrow mountain defiles over 6,000 feet above sea level. It is formed of a number of villages located around the mines and has a population numbering 63,000.

Stern, of Baltimore, indicted for complicity in postal frauds, was concluded in the police court and Stern was held in $5,000 bail to await the action of the grand jury, which was furnished, and he was released. Judge Scott said he believed enough evidence had been adduced to authorize him to hold the defendant for the investigation of the higher tribunal. He commented on the statements made by the post office inspectors of the result of their conversations with Stern and the latter's claims that he had written authority for the non-furnishing of straps and then his failure to make good the claim by producing the document in question.

PANIC IN ST. LOUIS.

Runs Made on Savings Departments of Three Banks.

St. Louis, Oct. 28.—From shortly before 1 o'clock until the closing hour, 3 o'clock, Tuesday runs were made in the savings departments of three banks of St. Louis and at the same time more than the ordinary amount of withdrawals by savings depositions were noticeable in the other banking institutions. The run, so far as it can be traced, was started by a disquieting rumor from the outside that seemed to strike St. Louis shortly after noon, to the effect that the savings institutions here were unsound, and like a prairie fire it spread in a flash through the streets, and different mercantile establishments whose employees represent the majority of savings depositories. With a rush the corridors of the Lincoln Trust Co., the Mercantile Trust Co. and the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. were filled with men and women all eager to withdraw their money. The scene in any one bank was duplicated in the other two. A line of people with bank books in their hands and faces eagerly scanning the little barred windows of the bank tellers stretched out into the street, and intermingled were policemen and bank officials, counseling calmness and giving assurances of solvency.

It is stated that the rumor that started the run came from Chicago and was to the effect that two directors of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. had recently endeavored to negotiate a loan of $2,000,000 in that city and had been refused. Tuesday this rumor was pronounced an absolute canard by the directors concerned.

As soon as the runs started all other business was laid aside and every facility was afforded for the prompt payment of deposits. The clauses which give the bank the privilege of withholding payment until 60 days after notification was waived and amounts were paid rapidly regardless of their size. There was no disorder manifested at any of the institutions and in many cases depositors who had hurried to withdraw amounts departed without their money, after having conversed a few moments with the officials and been made confident that the bank would continue to do business.

The directors of the different trust companies at meetings Tuesday night decided to enforce the 30 and 60 day notification clause Wednesday, and this, it is believed, will doubtless stop all tendency to a continuation of runs.

HISTORIC FARNSESE PALACE.

France Has Purchased It At a Cost of $600,000.

Rome, Oct. 28.—France Tuesday completed the purchase of the famous and historic Farnese palace, which will be used as an embassy. The cost was $600,000 and this sum was paid to the heirs of the two Sicilies branch of the house of Bourbon. In view of the value of the property this price is thought to be very low.

The Farnese palace is one of the finest in the world. It was begun by Pope Paul III., on designs by Sangallo, and its construction was continued under the direction of Michel Angelo. It was at one time offered for sale to the United States government for use as an American archaeological school and an American school for classical studies.

PARLOR MATCHES.

A Crusade Against Their Sale and Use Started in Milwaukee, Wis.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 28.—A movement has been started among city officials to abolish parlor matches. Chief Meminger, of the fire department, said Tuesday that he would ask the city attorney to prepare an ordinance prohibiting their sale or use and will submit the ordinance at the next council meeting. It is claimed by the fire chief that an average of one fire a week is caused by parlor matches. The measure is favored by the fire and police commission.

BROKE THE RECORDS.

Dan Patch Lowered It For a Half-Mile Race.

Next He Went a Mile to a Wagon in 1:57 1/4—Major Delmar Cut a Quarter Second From His Two-Minute Record.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 28.—Dan Patch (1:56 1/4) within 45 minutes elapsed time Tuesday afternoon smashed two world's records in succession on the track of the Memphis Trotting association. First he went against the world's half mile pacing record of 57 1/2 seconds, held by Prince Alert, and clipped a second and a half from the record, negotiating the distance in 56 seconds flat. Next he hung out a new world's record for a mile pacing to wagon, making the mile in 1:57 1/4, two seconds better than the time of 1:59 1/4, which he made at the recent meeting on the Lexington, Ky., track, the world's record until Tuesday afternoon.

Major Delmar, E. E. Smathers' two minute trotter, was also sent to lower his own record, and won. He cut a quarter of a second from the two minute mark, making the mile in 1:59 1/4. The quarter was made in 30 seconds; the half in 1:00, and three-quarters in 1:39 1/4.

In making the half mile trial against time Driver Myron McHenry started from the wire and breezed Dan Patch around to within a short distance of the half mile pole, where two runners to sulkies were picked up, the forward sulky carrying the customary canvas dust strip. The three horses swept by the pole and McHenry gave the signal that the trial was a go. Starter Newton dropped the red flag and the watches of the timers were set in motion to catch the new record for a half mile. The quarter was made in 28 1/2 seconds and the pacer dashed under the wire with the hands of the time watches sharp on the mark of 56 seconds. The demonstration from the grand stand was quite as enthusiastic as those which have been given Dan Patch when he set the mile record of 1:56 1/4, and Lou Dillon, when he negotiated a mile in 1:58 1/2, but it and the other noisy acclamations of the new champions were all eclipsed by the enthusiasm of the spectators when Dan Patch came upon the track to set a new wagon mark for the mile. With a few preliminary breezings before the grand stand the start was made with two runners as pacers and the magnificent son of Joe Patchen gave no sign of fatigue from his feat of lowering the record for half a mile. The quarter was made in 1:29 1/4; the half in 1:58 1/4, and the three-quarters in 1:28. Under the wire the champion pacer dashed in 1:57 1/4 seconds, showing little effect from having smashed two records in a single afternoon. The pacer was driven by McHenry in the wagon trial.

MURDERED ON HIS DOORSTEP.

President of the Armenian Revolutionary Society Killed in London.

London, Oct. 28.—Sagat Sagouni, president of the Armenian Revolutionary society, was murdered at the doorstep of his lodgings at Nunhead, an unpretentious little suburb of London, late Monday evening. The murder presumably was committed by a fellow Armenian recently from the United States. The assassin had a political motive and was characterized by a boldness to which London has seldom been treated. It created an unusual sensation here since it appears to have been only an incident in a long and bitter vendetta between two factions of Armenian revolutionists.

STATE NEWS PICK-UPS

THE WORK OF ROBBERS.

A House Ransacked and Poisoned Administered to the Occupants.

Perryville, Ky., Oct. 27.—Robbers ransacked the house of Robert Robinson, a wealthy farmer near here, Sunday night and administered poison to Robinson and his wife, which will probably result in one death at least. A neighbor called at their home Monday afternoon and found both unconscious. A physician was summoned and administered antidotes. Mrs. Robinson will die, but her husband may recover. Paris green and corrosive sublimate were found in the coffee pot and corrosive sublimate was also found in a crock of milk. External evidence showed that the couple had prepared breakfast Monday morning and shortly after eating were taken ill. They then administered a quantity of lard to counteract the effects of the poison. Owing to their isolation they were unable to summon assistance and their condition would not have been known but for the accidental visit of a neighbor. The house was ransacked and everything of value is missing, but owing to the precarious condition of the aged people the property loss is not known. Detectives are working on the case. This is believed to be one of a series of daring robberies committed in the past two weeks in Boyle and Mercer counties. The home of Allen Edelen, a wealthy stock raiser, was raided by robbers last week and a watch, diamonds and other jewelry were taken. As in the Robinson case, poison was also administered to the Edelen family, presumably with the intention of destroying the traces of robbery. The robbers cooked meals and dined at both places.

Mrs. Short's grandfather, William Steele, died many years ago, and left his vast estate and money in bank to her father. In the meantime, with her father, she had come to America.

When the grandfather died efforts to locate William Steele, jr., in his country proved futile until a few weeks ago, when Mrs. Short wrote to one of her relatives in England. It was then remembered that she was the rightful heir to the estate.

The proper steps have been taken to transfer the estate to Mrs. Short. Her father died several years ago.

Godfrey Hunter entered a motion to dissolve a temporary restraining order granted to Mr. Edwards, his opponent for the seat of the late Congressman Boreing, to prevent county clerks of the district from placing his (Hunter's) name on the ballot as the republican nominee. Tuesday afternoon overruled the motion as having been made prematurely, and also on the ground of lack of jurisdiction. Edwards' motion for an injunction will now be heard before Judge Faulkner, of the Clay circuit court, on Thursday next, and should it be granted, Dr. Hunter will appeal to Judge Stettin to dissolve it. The state central committee of the republican party has been called to meet at Louisville on Wednesday, if possible, settle the dispute within the party lines. Both Dr. Hunter and Mr. Edwards, who have been here for a day or two, are expected to leave for Louisville Tuesday night for Louisville, to attend the meeting of the party committee.

RALLY around the standard of right and vote for Hagins, Terry and Howard.

Let us show the world that we do not endorse lawlessness, by electing Terry, Hagins and Howard.

If you endorse high taxes, thousand dollar salaries for county offices and the reign of lawlessness here for the past two years, then vote for the Midnight Ticket.

The People of a community seldom get anything better than they deserve. If we vote to endorse the administration here for the past two years, then we deserve no better.

Do you want your public records preserved?

Do you want honest men for your juries, offenders arrested and law and order enforced?

Do you want prisoners kept in jail when sent there?

If so, then vote for Hagins, Terry and Howard.

With an economical administration of county affairs there should now be no necessity for any poll tax, but you are taxed as high as the law allows in order to pay high salaries to a few offices. If you are opposed to high salaries and high taxes, vote against those who brought them about.

Day Bros. Co.,

A CARD

To the Voters of Breathitt County.

I understand that a report is being circulated to the effect that I was offered the nomination of the Democratic party for Sheriff of this county and that I declined it and accepted the Republican nomination instead.

It will be remembered that Mr. Callahan and I were opposing candidates for the Democratic nomination for this office in the April primary, 1901. That primary was held under the auspices of the present Democratic Committee of this county. The result of that primary is still fresh in the minds of all. None believed then, nor does any one believe now, that it reflected the will of the electors who participated in it. I believed then and I believe now, that a fair count would have shown that I was the choice of an overwhelming majority of the Democrats of this county for that office. Yet, the committee awarded the certificate of nomination to my opponent. I appealed directly to the people from their decision, and certainly received a majority of the legal vote cast for that office in the election of 1901. But, again the returns were falsified and the certificate of election awarded to my opponent.

I then instituted a contest proceeding, and after a year's delay it was decided by the court that no election was held, and that the office of Sheriff was then appointed to fill the vacancy.

Nothing is further from me than to discuss the deplorable condition of affairs that have existed in this county during the past two years. Enough to say is that no such conditions existed in the two preceding years, during which I held the office to which I now aspire.

The Republicans and Independent Democrats held a mass meeting in Jackson, Kentucky, on July 12, of the present year in which they declared themselves opposed to the existing lawlessness of this county, and pledged themselves to use all honorable means within their power to restore law and order in our midst, and called upon me to again become a candidate for the office of Sheriff. I did not respond to this call, hoping that the people, regardless of party, would select some conservative man other than myself to serve in this capacity. I have also been solicited by a great many Democrats of the county, to stand for the Democratic nomination for this, and I might have been inclined to have done so had I been given the assurance that a primary election or convention would be held and conducted so as to reflect the will of those participating in it.

A convention was called by the Democratic Committee of this county, to nominate a candidate for Circuit Clerk but no convention was ever called, and so far as I know, none was ever proposed, to nominate a candidate for either the office of Sheriff or Jailer, although both these offices were vacant. The Republicans of this county met in convention on the 3rd day of the present month and tendered me the nomination of their party for this important office. This was without any solicitation on my part; and had I consulted my own wishes alone, I would have declined the honor. But believing that my duty was first to my country, I accepted the nomination, and am now a candidate—not a Republican candidate, but the People's candidate—for Sheriff of Breathitt county.

It is true, that on the day I was nominated by the Republicans, a number of gentlemen, for whom I entertain the utmost respect, called upon me and informed me that they were authorized by the Democratic party, or, at least, by its committee, to say that I could have its nomination for this same office.

I was born and reared a Democrat. I was educated to believe that the Democratic party was the party of the people; that a public office is a trust bestowed by the public upon the holder, and that no man nor set of men had authority to speak for the Democratic party, unless they were declared to do so by the party at large.

It was not proposed to call a convention or primary of the Democratic party and allow it to nominate me for this office, but, on the other hand, it was proposed to have Miller and his Committee of five, to meet and nominate me without even giving the Democrats a chance to ratify the nomination. I do not believe that the Democratic party is bound or obligated to respect a nomination that does not come from the rank and file of the party itself.

I declined with thanks the machine-made nomination tendered me by Miller and his committee, which, I understand, was later accepted without alteration by my opponent. In fact, I believe it was cut and fitted for him originally.

Respectfully,
CHARLES TERRY.

TORRENT

Mrs. A. M. Stiles left here Tuesday or Wednesday, O., on a visit.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Reader Forshey of Ridgewood Junction, on the 23rd, a 10-pound boy.

Mr. Veach Russell, of Clay City, was a visitor here this week.

Rev. Roberts and family, of Lee City spent several days at Ridgewood Junction this week.

Mr. Walter Hopper and family have returned home from Menifee county. Mrs. Hopper brought back with her a "little stranger," who made its appearance while she was visiting her parents.

Mr. Leonard Barnes was in Lexington last week.

Mrs. Newt Townsend, of Hazel Green, has been at the bedside of her daughter, Mrs. Reader Forshey, who has been quite ill.

In our opinion it will make a great deal of difference to the people of this county which one of the County Tickets is elected. Is it Miller, or Midnight Ticket, represents high taxes, high salaries and all that is bad in politics, while the Peoples Ticket stands for the best interest of all the people of the county.

Vote for Hagins, Terry and Howard.

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

To the Voters of Breathitt County.

While out canvassing last week, I sprained the knee of my crippled leg so badly that I cannot wear my wooden leg, and consequently, cannot get out to see you personally, as I had intended to do. As you all know, I made the race for the nomination in September and won, but Miller and his Committee took it away from me and gave it to Wm. D. Back, who is not qualified to hold the office and would not attend to it if he had it. A vote for him would indorse the theft of the nomination from me, thus taking from the people the right to select their own officers.

On October 3, the Republicans and Democrats, who were opposed to fraudulent nominations and gang rule, met at the Court House and tendered me the nomination for Circuit Clerk, which I accepted, and you will find my name under the Log Cabin device, because Miller and his Committee set aside the will of the Democratic party.

It now devolves upon you to say whether Miller and his Committee shall name your officers or whether you will do it yourselves. I am not able to do manual labor on account of my affliction, but I can and will do the duties of the office of Circuit Clerk. I humbly ask each and every one of you to hunt up my name on the ballot and vote for me, and I promise you faithful service and will ever be thankful.

YOURS RESPECTFULLY,

A. L. HAGINS.

MY MOTHER'S PICTURE

I
My mother's picture, so dear to me,
How oft my life has been blessed:
Has given courage, hope and peace;
To me when sore distressed.

II
That picture hanging on the wall
Will ever help to guide me:
And when I think upon her love
No evil can betide me.

III
The evil one does often flee
And to me strength is given;
When I think of mother, dear
Looking down from Heaven.

IV
While I thy, dear sweet face shall see,
More precious than all other;
And while it helps and strengthens me
My blessed blessed mother

V
My life and all I give to Him,
Whom she did serve and love;
Who took her at His own good time
To dwell with Him above.

VI
And while I sometimes feel so sad
That she from me was taken;
I then remember—God is just
And I am not forsaken.

VII
So, as I wend my weary way,
In the path the saints have trod;
The light from mother's life will Guide me, on to Heaven and God.

Do Good—It Pays.

A Chicago man has observed that, "Good deeds are better than real estate deeds—some of the latter are worthless. Act kindly and gently, show sympathy and lend a helping hand. You cannot possibly lose it." Most men appreciate a kind word and encouragement more than substantial help. There are persons in this community who might truthfully say: "My good friend, cheer up. A few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will rid you of your cold, and there is no danger whatever from pneumonia when you use that medicine. It always cures. I know it for it has helped me out many a time." For sale by Day Bros. Co.

THE FORESTRY EXHIBIT

From Kentucky Will Occupy a Most Prominent Place

AT THE ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION

Assigned Space Near Center of Forestry Building and on Two of the Main Aisles—Chairman Struck Issues Instructions For Preparation of Samples of Logs, Boards, Etc., For the Exhibit.

On two of the main aisles and almost in the center of the Forestry and Fish and Game Building at the World's Fair in St. Louis next year will stand Kentucky's display of her wonderful forest resources and lumber interests. This space has just been assigned to the Kentucky Exhibit Association by Mr. Tarleton H. Bean, the chief of the Department of Forestry of the Exposition. As is readily seen, the forestry display from this commonwealth will occupy an enviable position, and it behooves those interested to make the display one worthy the space given it. To this end Mr. A. N. Struck, Chairman of the Forestry Exhibit Committee of the Exhibit Association, and Mr. William Boa, Field Representative, are laying their plans.

Chairman Struck has just issued a circular, giving instructions to the logging camps, planing mills and forestry industries of the State, as to how they can best assist him in making the display a success. Logs cut eight feet in length are to be shown. This length has been decided on so the samples

Miss Alice Bailey, of Atlanta, Ga., escaped the surgeon's knife, by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MISS PINKHAM:—I wish to express my gratitude for the restored health and happiness Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought into my life.

"I had suffered for three years with terrible pains at the time of menstruation, and did not know what the trouble was until the doctor pronounced it inflammation of the ovaries, and proposed an operation.

"I felt so weak and sick that I felt sure that I could not survive the operation, and so I told him that I would not undergo it. The following week I read an advertisement in the paper of your Vegetable Compound in such an emergency, and so I decided to try it. Great was my joy to find that I actually improved after taking two bottles, so I kept taking it for ten weeks, and at the end of that time I was cured. I had gained eighteen pounds and was in excellent health, and am now.

"You surely deserve great success, and you have my very best wishes."

Tommy's Essay on Preachers.

The following essay by a youthful boarding school boy, throws quite a new and interesting light on church dignitaries. There are three kinds of clergymen: bishops, rectors and curates. The bishops tell the rectors to work and the curates have to do it. Curate is a thin married man but when he is a rector he gets fatter and can preach longer sermons and becomes a good man, we should always respect a curate because sun day he may become a rector and we must always pity those who are low down in the world, say of us may become unfortunate, so we must not hit a man with a stone."—Chicago Chronicle.

OLD CHURCH WARDENS.

The Clay Pipe Industry of England and Some of its Interesting History.

"Nowhere in the world can be found a pipe like the old church warden which is made in England," said an avenue tobacco dealer, according to the Washington Star.

"The manufacture of the church warden is stamped with the hallmark of antiquity. Broseley, in Staffordshire, is perhaps the most renowned pipe-making center in Great Britain, and the art—for such it is—has been practiced for between 300 and 400 years. And certain families there have carried on the industry without a break since the middle of the sixteenth century.

"But outside Staffordshire pipe-making is also carried on, and in the center of Cheshire one family can boast of 100 years' service to the Cheshire smokers.

"As in a few other industries, machinery is a failure in the pipe factory. Processes without number have been invented and fortunes have been spent with the object of manufacturing clay pipes by machinery, but none have been successful.

"Pipe factories are not imposing buildings, and use, not ornaments, is the prime factor. The clay of a dirty gray color is stored in sheds, and in spite of its color clay is of the purest and is only to be found in Devonshire. It is shipped to Liverpool and is distributed to the pipe makers in square blocks.

"The first operation is the cleaning of the clay. Each block is separated to remove impurities, then the clay is mixed with water and beaten to the right consistency, a proceeding which calls for considerable care, otherwise the finished pipe will suffer.

"A thick paste results and this is passed on to the rolling and molding room. Here men and boys—and sometimes girls—deftly roll the clay by hand until it assumes somewhat the shape of a pipe. The workers become remarkably dexterous, and it is astonishing how accurately they gauge the amount of clay necessary for the rolling of the head and stem of a full-fledged church warden or the less ambitious short.

"The work has nevertheless to be neatly and delicately performed, or the clay will deteriorate. In an ordinary working day the average worker will roll 1,600 to 1,700 of the longest pipes and, of course, considerably more short ones. A dozen or more pipes are stuck together to temper, a drying process the length of which varies according to the heat of the room.

"When sufficiently dry the work of molding commences. Molds of cast iron are employed, and the shelves contain all the best known styles which are added to or changed as fashion dictates. The plain, smooth clay is always first favorite, but now and again a popular military general—Kitchener and Roberts at present share the honor—added to the mold. In some districts the counterfeits of presentments of a noted footballer or the head of a race horse figure in clay pipes.

"The mold is hinged from stem to bowl and after carefully filling the sides the molder inserts his hand-rolled and tempered pipes, passes a wire through the stem to make the all-important draft hole, closes the mold and places it in a hand press, which punches a hole in the bowl. While the mold is still closed the operator removes the superfluous clay with a knife. Then he passes his hand over any rough places and the pipe is ready to dry.

"Two or three days in a fairly warm room at an even temperature are needed for the drying process, and when thus far completed the pipe is of a creamy tint and has a highly polished surface. Then the finisher applies his art, quietly removing seams and inequalities and making all ready for the burner.

"A circular kiln, beneath which three fires are blazing at white heat, stands in the open yard, and in this the pipes are plunged. They are carefully packed in what are termed 'beggars' or fire-dogs, each of which contains some three gross. In reality there are two kilns in one, one for the long pipes and one for the short, and they are kept burning at white heat for 12 or 13 hours, after which time the pipes are gradually allowed to cool and are then drawn forth hard and white, ready for the glazing of the stems, and, if quality demands, scouring and finishing."

If you do this in the dark every time you draw your brush out of the cylinder you will behold a magnificent spark leap across the space between the two bands of tinfoil, showing that you have electrified the action of the kidney secretions."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson in the International Series for November 1, 1903—David and Absalom.

THE LESSON TEXT.

(2 Sam. 15:1-12)

1. And it came to pass after this, that Absalom prepared him chariots and horses, and 50 men to run before him.

2. And Absalom rose up early, and stood beside the way of the gate; and it was so, that when any man that had a controversy came to the king for judgment, then Absalom called unto him, and said, Of what city art thou? And he said, Thy servant is one of the tribes of Israel.

3. And Absalom said unto him, See, thy matters are good and right; but there is no man deputed of the king to hear thee.

4. Absalom said moreover, Oh that I were made judge in the land, that every man which hath any suit or cause might come unto me, and I would do him justice!

5. And it was so, that when any man came nigh to him to do him obeisance, he put forth his hand, and took him, and kissed him.

6. And on this manner did Absalom to all Israel that came to the king for judgment; so Absalom stole the hearts of the men of Israel.

7. And it came to pass after 40 years, that Absalom said unto the king, I pray thee, let me go and pay my vow, which I have vowed unto the Lord in Hebron.

8. For thy servant vowed a vow while I abode at Geshur in Syria, saying, If the Lord shall bring me again indeed to Jerusalem, then I will serve the Lord.

9. And the king said unto him, Go in peace. So he arose, and went to Hebron.

10. But Absalom sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, As soon as ye hear the sound of the trumpet, then ye shall say, Absalom reigneth in Hebron.

11. And with Absalom went 20 men out of Jerusalem, that were called; and they went in their simplicity, and they knew not anything.

12. And Absalom sent for Ahithophel the Gilonite, David's counselor, from his city, even from Gilead, while he offered sacrifice. And the conspiracy was strong; for the people increased continually with Absalom.

NOTES AND COMMENTS. (2 Sam. 15:14.) Absalom, the third son of David, was tall and handsome, winning in his manner, and as friendly with the poorest of the people as he was with the members of the aristocracy. He was an ideal prince so far as graces and accomplishments were concerned.

His first prominence in the story is in connection with his murder of the crown prince Amnon. Amnon was the son of one of David's wives, and Absalom, of another, and there was constant jealousy between the children of the different wives of the harem. Amnon wronged Absalom's sister Tamar in a most outrageous way, and as David, who should have punished the offender, weakly did nothing about it, Absalom, toward vengeance, and the shelves contain all the best known styles which are added to or changed as fashion dictates. His prediction was verified when Lou Dillon covered the distance in two minutes a few days ago.

A PROMINENT CHURCH WORKER SAYS SHE OWES HER LIFE TO PE-RU-NA.

Mrs. Hattie La Fountain, Trens. Protected Home Circle and Catholic Ladies of Ohio, writes from Gallion, O., as follows:

"After my first child was born I suffered for several months with bearing down pains accompanied by dreadful headaches. I was afraid my health was ruined for life, and felt very downcast about it. One day when a friend was visiting me she told me of Peruna and what it had done for her when she suffered with irregular menstruation. My husband procured a bottle the same evening and I began to take it daily according to directions. Before the first bottle was used I was entirely well, and you certainly have one grateful woman's blessing. I have also advised my friends to use it."

MRS. HATTIE LA FOUNTAIN.

Secretary Woman's State Federation Says: "Pe-ru-na Does More Than is Claimed for it."

Mrs. Julia M. Brown, Secretary of the Woman's State Federation of California, writes from 131 1/2 Fifth St., Los Angeles, Cal., as follows:

"I have never known of any patent medicine which did what it professed to do except Peruna. This remedy does much more than it claims, and while I have never advocated any medicine I feel that it is but justice to speak a good word for it because I have found it to be such a rare exception.

"I have known several women who were little better than physical wrecks, mothers who dragged out a miserable, painful existence, but were made well and strong through the use of Peruna. I have known of cases of chronic catarrh which were cured in a short time, when a dozen different remedies had been expended with and without good results. I use it myself when I feel nervous and worn out, and I have always found that the results were most satisfactory."

JULIA M. BROWN.

IT WOULDN'T COME OFF.

He had a face that indelibly impressed all who got a glimpse of it.

A Duluth attorney recently went east to visit his old home, and the first Sunday he was in the city he called on the Duluth News-Tribune. After service he visited the Sunday school and saw many familiar faces among the pupils, although they had all grown considerably during the years he had been away.

At the request of the superintendent the pastor addressed the school, and in opening he asked if there were any present who remembered him—who had ever seen him before.

The hand of a little fellow in the front row immediately went up "I do—I do!" he said.

A satisfied smile crept over the face of the visitor. He was glad that the children remembered him.

"No," he asked the boy who had raised his hand.

"You was the down in the circus last summer," replied the youth, enthusiastically. "I'd never forget your face."

The McBride Case Again. St. John, Kan., Oct. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. William McBride and Jesse L. James, M. D., have gone before Mr. George E. Moore, Notary Public, and have sworn and subscribed to written statements concerning the story of the awful illness and subsequent cure of the little son of Mr. McBride.

Dr. James is particularly emphatic in statement, and there does not now seem to be any room for doubt as to the fact that the little boy's illness was a case of epilepsy, and that the cure was effected by the use of the medicine.

It was so bad that he had epileptic fits which seized him with increasing frequency. He was semiparalyzed in the right side, and his mind was badly affected.

In their sworn statement, Mr. and Mrs. McBride say:

"The very day we began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills our boy had twenty-seven of these epileptic spells or fits. In less than a week he ceased having them entirely. The case has caused a great sensation in the neighborhood. The sworn
